Post Campaign-Driving Sales and Conversion

It's true: influencers are a great tool for driving brand exposure among targeted audiences and new households. That being said, influencer marketing does not only affect the top layers of the funnel.

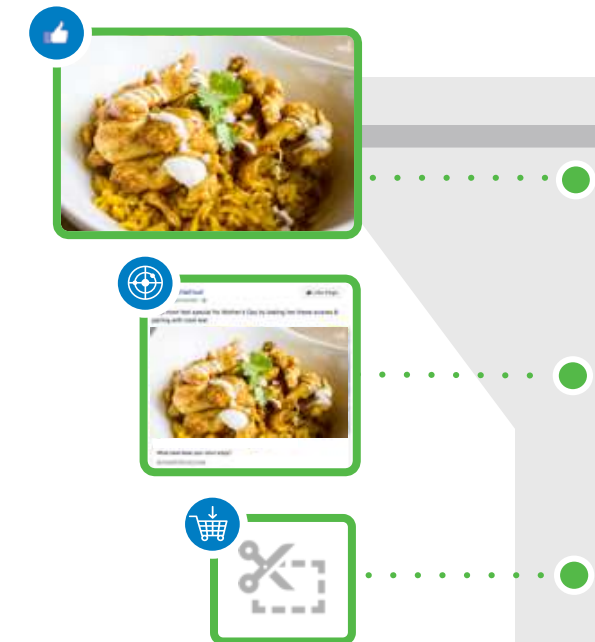

Campaigns can be designed to drive deep-funnel activity, whereby we continually re-engage users who have shown interest in content about your product. This can drive them towards trial opportunities (offers, sampling, etc.), or even ecommerce purchases.

Example:

A well-known rice brand wanted to drive trial by accelerating redemptions of a mobile rebate at Walmart. Up to the challenge of scaling the offer's reach, Collective Bias activated influencers to discuss spending quality family time in the kitchen and creating new usage occasions for the brand, and created specific CTAs across blog, social and video content to drive to the offer.

CB's Influencers were the only driver to the mobile rebate for $0.75 off products exclusively at Walmart, and redemptions originating with influencer content were uniquely tracked

Results: 130K users unlocked & 58K users redeemed
the offer after being exposed to it via influencer content.

Snickers Brand Subscription & Product Trial

Connecting real-time events to CPG offer redemption

Monday Night Football just got more interesting! The Snickers' Hunger Handoff promotion drove awareness and product trial through real-time event messaging based on football plays in partnership with the NFL.

By tying the promotion into the excitement of live sports:

50% of subscribers who received a push notification claimed a coupon for a free Snickers bar - resulting in 261k coupons being claimed.

82% of consumers subscribed to receive broadcast messages about the program

Subscribers who received a push notification claimed their coupon in less than 14 minutes.

Unlocking the Power of Location

Catherine Fanone, VP National Sales
GroundTruth

Location Intent

We've spent over a decade building a mapping platform focus on data quality that allows us to precisely harness location intent.

Our proprietary Blueprints technology is our foundation

Maps the real world with the most accuracy, precision, consistency and scale in the industry.

We use spatial recognition technology to identify the exact boundaries of a store location.

80%

of the people captured as visiting a store based on a radius around the store did not actually go into the store in a test against Blueprints.

Retail Area

In-store

On Lot

GroundTruth has Blueprinted every major retailer in the U.S. and is actively adding other points of interest.

We add +200K Blueprints every month.

Location-Based Targeting

Real-Time

Connect with consumers in the moment with relevant messaging to get them through your doors.

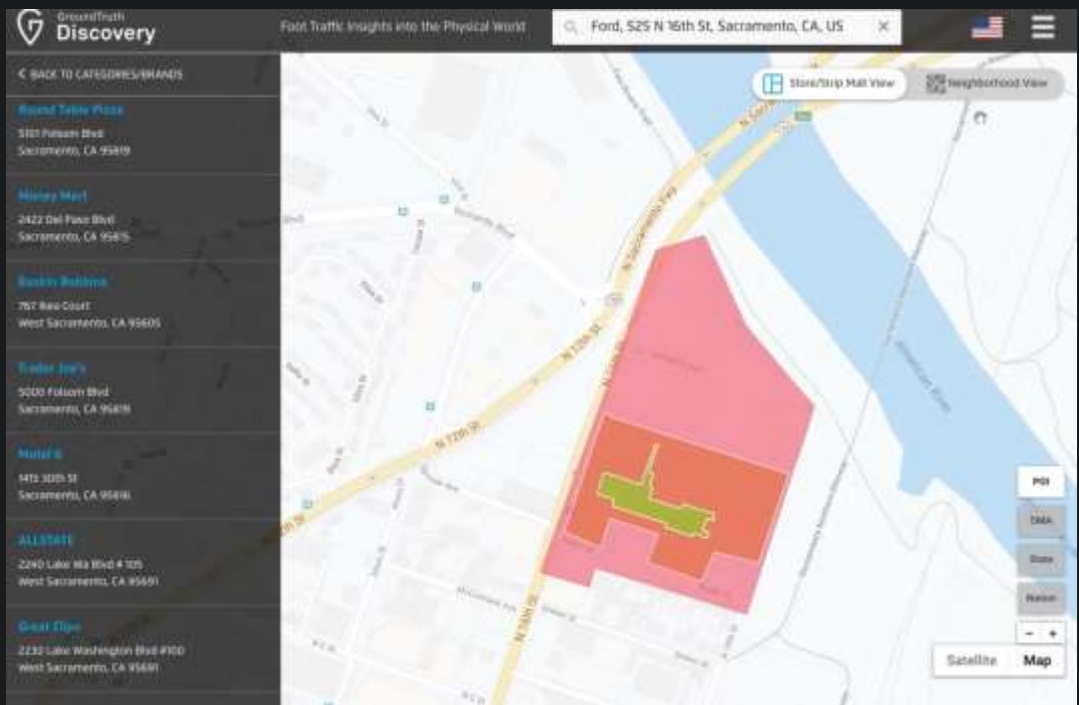

- On Premise
- Geo-Targeting
- Proximity

Historical Visitation

Reach people based on historical visitation patterns.

- Location Audience
- Behavioral Audience
- Custom Audience

Neighborhood Targeting

Neighborhoods enables marketers to garner insights on their consumers as well as execute intelligent targeting based on areas of high visitation affinity with a brand's store or set of audiences
